Plustek Unveil Its Newest Imaging Product the Standalone eScan A150 Network Scanner At CeBIT
2015

HANNOVER, Germany - [CeBIT 2015, Hall 3 booth #F29] March 16, 2015 – Plustek Inc. (www.plustek.com), a manufacturer of consumer, prosumer and professional imaging and security devices, will exhibit a full line of new scanning and surveillance products at the world-renowned CeBIT 2015 from March 16 to 20.

The eScan A150 is the first standalone personal workgroup network scanner priced for small and medium-sized businesses / enterprises (SMBs). The key scanning feature is in its intuitive user interface, which provides the simplest way to scan in the industry. No hassle of connecting to a personal computer for scanning tasks. Send documents to any destination directly on its 7-inch LCD touchscreen, in just three steps, allowing users to deliver files to multiple destinations and connections all at the same time.

CeBIT attendees are invited to come by the Plustek booth (#F29) and to try the eScan A150 and to be amazed how Plustek has truly simplified scanning. Plustek will also bring its extensive product line to CeBIT 2015 which includes:

*SecureScan X150 can auto scan and recognize multiple document sizes of identification card and passports, scan up to 500dpi high resolution with true image output in 24-bit color, and contains 3 different wavelength illuminations: Visible, IR (Infra-Red) and UV (Ultraviolet).

*SC8016U with blazing fast speed and A3 size scanning

*Award winning PS456U super-fast 80 pages per minute

*PS286 Plus, valued priced duplex document scanner

"We're thrilled to bring our groundbreaking eScan and other award winning scanners to CeBIT," said Karen Ku, VP of Sales. "We're endlessly striving to improve our design in a way that makes mundane scanning tasks more enjoyable for the workforce."
