Plustek Highlight the Next Wave of Automation and Digitalization at CES 2025

Unlocking New Levels of Productivity and Cost Efficiency for Businesses of All Sizes

Santa Fe Springs, Calif, November 8, 2024 [CES Booth 9100, LVCC, North Hall] – Plustek Inc., a global leader in imaging and document processing technology, is set to unveil its next-generation process automation solutions at CES 2025 in Las Vegas, NV, from January 7 to 10. As automation continues to gain momentum and businesses embrace new technologies, Plustek's innovations optimize workflows by cutting routine task time by up to a third. With seamless integration and minimal to no coding required, these solutions usher in a new era of efficiency and transformation.

Plustek's document processing automation and digitalization to be featured at the show:

- The Autofill ID Wizard automates ID data entry by extracting and populating guest profiles directly into enterprise systems. Adopted by major Property Management Systems (PMS), it requires little to no coding, driving greater efficiency and faster service delivery.
- The FileDistributor II automates file naming and organizes scanned files using customizable rules, archiving batches in seconds without the need for human intervention. Users can easily scan documents at the push of a button, with secure processing and storage.

The Q30 network scanner is a compact, standalone device without the need for connection to other hardware. Featuring both Wi-Fi and Ethernet connectivity, it simplifies global deployment and centralized management via a web platform.

This collection highlights Plustek's commitment to digital transformation, emphasizing the adoption of technology to enhance workplace efficiency across businesses. Karen Ku, Plustek's VP of Sales, shared the company's strategy for CES 2025: "Our mission is to empower businesses with innovative tools that automate and streamline document processing automation and digitalization. We're building a smarter, more accessible document management ecosystem that adapts as needs grow, making workflow optimization and data processing seamless. Our scalable solutions are designed for easy deployment and integration, supporting better decision-making and fueling growth. At Plustek, we're dedicated to providing technology that lets businesses focus on what truly matters."

Attendees can experience firsthand at booth #9100, where Plustek will showcase its automation and digitalization solutions tailored for modern enterprises. Join Plustek at CES 2025 to gain valuable insights and discover how the latest advancements in document automation can streamline your operations and drive success in a digital-first world.
